After successfully completing an apprenticeship in mechanical engineering at the Warnow wharf in Warnemünde, Stefan Erdmann went on to study in Rostock from 1992 to 1997. During a period of study at Coventry University, he also acquired a “Certificate in English Studies” in 1995. Ever since taking on a part-time position at a law firm in Rostock in 1997, Stefan Erdmann has been involved in construction law cases. He sat his second state examinations in Dresden in May 2001 and has since been working as a lawyer in Berlin. His legal activities focus on the private construction and architecture law fields where he not only represents clients in legal disputes but also provides ongoing advisory services during construction projects.

Stefan Erdmann is a specialist in construction and architecture law and member of the Bar Association in Berlin.
